Interests & Experiences

Why are you interested in serving on a Board or Commission?

I have recently returned to Wake county on a full time basis and have been committed to volunteer service in the community. I'd like the opportunity to use my skills and expertise to have a positive impact on my immediate community and work to build relationships with county residents committed to public service.

Work Experience

I am an attorney, consultant, and strategist specializing in equity, diversity, inclusion and civil rights compliance in the public and private sector. I am an advanced equity specialist with thoughtful and engaging leadership and organizational skills that take equity from theory to action. I am published nationally as a leading scholar-activist in the arenas of civil rights, black feminist legal and social theory, and intersectionality. Feel free to contact me to serve as your next equity consultant and/or educator, specifically as it relates to Title IX and gender equity, race and gender, cultural competency, intersectionality, or social justice based institutional change.

Volunteer Experience

I have experience working with youth as a mentor for the YMCA, working on international aid projects in Haiti with St. Louisiens for Haiti and throughout the country as a volunteer with habitat for humanity and in rural wake county through youth programs administered through my sorority, Delta Sigma Theta, Sorority, Inc. I also have served as an advocate public speaker and writer on issues such as civil rights and gender equity. I previously served as a Human Relations Commissioner for the City of Raleigh.

THE CINCINNATI ENQUIRER

September 1, 2002

Mentor a child, change the world

Robert K. Greenleaf's book Servant Leadership chronicled a Quaker who decided that he would single-handedly end the practice of slavery in America. This gentle man set out to take on a monumental and difficult task.

He traveled the countryside on his mule, going from farm to farm talking to slave owners and trying to convince them of slavery's inhumanity. Sometimes he would spend a week or two at a farmer's house, patiently arguing his case and eventually persuading the landowner to stop this practice.

From a practical standpoint, this man, despite his compassion, zeal and commitment to do what is right, could probably never have ended slavery in America.

At the height of the slave trade in 1860, there were almost 3 million slaves across the United States. It would have taken this man many lifetimes to accomplish what many believed then, and what many still today consider, a fool's task. Greenleaf's account is not about ending slavery as much as it is about one person taking a stand and starting at some place to change things. If this man was able to convince one slave owner to change his ways, he had made a significant change and had left the world in a much better state. Sometimes when examining a complex problem, we make the mistake of thinking that it requires complex answers or solutions. For example, a large number of our African-American and Appalachian children, especially boys, will leave school before earning a high school diploma. Failure to possess even a basic high school diploma decreases the lifetime earnings of young men and women by almost a quarter million dollars.

The most effective dropout prevention program does not cost a dime. It does not flow from Washington, D.C., in the form of a block grant. It is the willingness of an adult to spend time with a young person as a mentor. Mentoring involves an adult who is willing to spend at least one hour a week with an elementary, middle-school or high school student, giving this child friendship, understanding and sometimes just an opportunity to share his/her thoughts.

Like the Quaker who wanted to end slavery – a human tragedy far worse than a youngster dropping out of school – the solution is that it takes small, simple steps and individual commitments. As responsible adults, we have an obligation to help the next generation move toward a degree of self-sufficiency. This means taking responsibility to help our children by mentoring and tutoring.

The most effective catalyst for change is one that does something, like the Quaker who wanted to end slavery. It does not have to be enormous, but maybe if you set a goal to spend time tutoring or mentoring at least one young person during the year, you would have made a significant contribution to end the dropout problem. It was the English theologian Richard Hooker (1854-1900) who said "change is not made without inconvenience, even from worse to better."

Maybe it is time that we began to inconvenience ourselves.

Comments

I have great concern of what's happening in and around Wake County. I have worked tirelessly with the community around the gangs, single mothers, homeless children and see a great need of those who need a voice who are not able to get to the table. My passion and love for our community runs deep I see a dying community on a daily basis. It would be my honor to serve on the board not to just serve, but to be effective.

~Thomas Jefferson

Minister Diana Powell, She's a native of Raleigh NC. While attending the Wake County Public School System, she acquired the prestigious position of class Vice President while attending Millbrook Sr. High.

She brings ready energy and a strong sense of purpose to her passion as CEO/Owner of Justice Served NC, Inc. and Bring Back The Village.

Diana, worked in the criminal justice system ten years as a Correctional Lieutenant with the Department of Corrections.

Through a period of five years she developed programs as needed to meet the nutritional needs of the low/income and minority families. She served with particular focus on specified segments of this population, such as youth who are going through the criminal justice system. Motivation and passion is a key factor to her personal and professional life.

She also worked and traveled with Dr. Juanita Bynum for 3yrs. on the logistics team. A member of Lost Sheep Outreach Ministry Under the Leadership of Pastor Phillip Brickle.

In 2015 she was honored as Raleigh NC, Hometown Hero by TCP Magazine.

Diana is in constant pursuit of gaining a business edge. She reads two to three books a week and prefers biographies. She is also a professional photographer with an associate's degree in photography. Diana is a licensed minister that focuses mainly on Outreach ministry.

Diana sits on the board of A. Philip Randolph Institute of Raleigh as Chaplin, Vice President of The Friends Committee. She serves on the Raleigh Capital Reentry Council Committee. Diana is the organizer of Bring Back the Village Empowering Our Community program that meets on Monday nights. She also co-chair the Crosby Advisory Group under Wake County.

She's a strong parent involvement with the administration and staff at Torchlight Academy Public Charter School.

She attends monthly meetings at the Haven House Gang Intervention/Prevention program.

Court and Community Advocate/Activist. She was involved in a movement between the judicial system and the community of organizing an Expungement day which occurred on November 12, 2016 for those who have been oppressed by their criminal record.

Diana, is currently working on the Expungement Clinic with the Wake County Judicial System under District Attorney Lorrain Freeman here in Raleigh, NC. where over 2,357 citizens pre-registered in hopes of having their criminal records expunged.

Diana volunteered as a facilitator with the Justice Served NC, Inc. program within the Hammond Road Detention Center under Sheriff Donna Harrison.

She's a certified Ex-Offender Employment Specialist through the United States Federal Prison in Butner NC.

There was a movement on July 11, 2016 within the Southeast Raleigh where she was heavily involved in a gang Truce called between the Crips, Bloods, Folks, 52 and 74 Hoovers.

Diana, works tirelessly with those individuals who are reentering back into society from being incarcerated either jail or prison with jobs, housing, life skills and critical thinking skills and offering mentoring programs.

She's a mother of twin sons and one daughter. She's currently engaged to Mr. Antonio Harrington.

Her love for youth and her community reaches way beyond the scope of just reaching, but being effective in their lives. She's a motivational speaker who cares for families who have lost loved ones due to gang violence or senseless killings. Her passion is real and true and she has dedicated her life to bringing unity within our community as well as others.

Diana says what makes her get up in the morning is knowing she can make a difference in someone's life to help prevent them from remaining in the criminal justice system. Motivation and passion is a key factor to her personal and professional life.

She loves her community especially the youth who are our future generation. Her motto is "Take the hand who's willing to serve you and we will serve you" From a servant's heart. And "It's not a moment, but a movement"
