About Me

A professional athlete who has travelled the world adapting and thriving in many countries and cultures. A natural leader who possess charismatic communication, and an empathy to see and solve problems from many perspectives. Successful with overseeing and collaboration at every level through experience in ownership of a semi-professional women's basketball team and league. Passionate community advocate in youth mentorship through many years in volunteering during my offseason. A high-character family-oriented man of service. Always searching to add value wherever possible in being apart of something bigger than the individual. Virtuous at problem solving through indentifying solutions rather than the source of issue.
