BACKGROUND

North Carolina is part of a historic agreement that will bring $1.5 billion to the state and will provide much needed relief to communities impacted by opioids. In November 2021, Wake County agreed to participate in the national settlement and will receive approximately $67.7 million over an 18-year period. The use of these funds is guided by the North Carolina Memorandum of Agreement and requires formal approval and authorization of an expenditure plan by the Wake County Board of Commissioners.

Community engagement has been central to Wake County's planning efforts around the funds. Wake County has hosted community input sessions, conducted community surveys, formed an advisory committee and regularly calls on the Wake County Drug Overdose Prevention Coalition for input on funding needs and priorities.

To identify community organizations best suited to implement the settlement strategies, Wake County conducted a competitive funding process in June 2024 and received 39 project proposals. Applications were reviewed by committee and 23 projects were funded because of this request for proposals. These projects will be funded through June 2027 for program stability to allow for time to hire staff, build up the program, and show outcomes of the work. You can find the full list of projects funded at wake.gov/OpioidSettlement.

FUNDING AVAILABLE

In total, the funds made available to Wake County over the 18-year period of the settlement will be $67,736,628 (inclusive of Raleigh and Cary funds).
