Interests & Experiences

Why are you interested in serving on a Board or Commission?

My desire to serve on the Committee is fueled by three main drivers: 1) Balance development and growth with community wellness, environmental performance and historic preservation, 2) Strengthen the equitable distribution of public facilities and investment, and 3) Facilitate the integration of complete communities for future generations. Each of these personal drivers contributes to the overall mission of the Committee. My goal is to deepen my personal commitment and contribution to advance Wake County as a continued top tier region.

Interests & Experiences

Why are you interested in serving on a Board or Commission?

I'm interested in serving on the Wake County Open Space & Parks Advisory Committee (OSAPAC) because I'm excited for the opportunity to apply my conservation planning experience to my local community. I've spent my environmental career so far helping conservation professionals across the Southeast United States make strategic land protection and management decisions to better sustain the natural and cultural resources of our region. I'm passionate about using strong science and collaboration to inform targeted conservation action and investment—an interest I believe will translate well to the work of OSAPAC. In addition, I'm a frequent user of Wake County's open space program. Since moving to Raleigh nearly 10 years ago, I've lived within a 5-minute drive of both Lake Johnson Park and Historic Yates Mill County Park, and typically visit them weekly. As a native of a small town in Western North Carolina, Wake County's parks and greenways have always made me feel at home in a place that initially seemed like the "big city". I would be honored to contribute to the vision and help shape the future direction of an initiative that contributes so much to my quality of life. Finally, I hold one of OSAPAC's previous members, Mallory Martin, in very high esteem. Mallory led my work team from 2017 until his retirement at the end of this year. I know he found serving on OSAPAC to be a meaningful experience and a great way to use his skills and interests to give back to his community. If selected, I would endeavor to continue his legacy and provide a similar blend of federal government and conservation partnership perspectives.

Work Experience

Since finishing graduate school in 2014, I've worked for the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service as staff of two regional conservation partnerships. My role focuses on supporting users of the Conservation Blueprint, a landscape-scale conservation plan. I also coordinate communications for those partnerships. While in graduate school at NC State, I interned for the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service and had a research assistantship in the forestry extension program doing social science research and science communication. Prior to that, I worked as a molecular biology teaching assistant at Duke. For additional details on my work experience and previous internship positions, please see my resume.

Volunteer Experience

I just completed two 3-year terms on the board of the Friends of Wake Soil and Water Conservation District, a nonprofit organization dedicated to supporting the work of Wake County Soil and Water Conservation District. For the last two years, I served as co-chair of the board. I also serve as board secretary and publicity manager for Singers of New and Ancient Music (SONAM), a nonprofit chorus committed to creating high-quality sacred and secular music and giving back to the community. Our mission is to make excellent choral music that supports local non-profits through benefit concerts.

Education

I received an M.S. in Natural Resources from NC State University in 2014. I graduated from Duke University in 2011 with a B.S. in Biology, B.A. in Environmental Science and Policy, and a certificate in Marine Conservation Science and Leadership. I graduated from Charles D. Owen High School in Black Mountain, NC in 2007.

Seth Palmer is a seasoned public affairs professional with a passion for communications. For more than a decade, he has used his skills and experience to translate engagement into action for public and private sector entities.

A native North Carolinian, Seth started his career in the North Carolina General Assembly on the House Majority Leader staff, where he worked on the state's seminal legislation on smoking in bars and restaurants. From there, he went on to work for former North Carolina Lieutenant Governor Walter Dalton before joining the team at the North Carolina Department of Transportation to tackle issues like intermodal logistics and international trade.

Before joining NP Strategy, Seth served as the Director of Regulatory Affairs and External Communications for NC REALTORS®, one of the state's largest trade associations. In this role, he bridged the gap between lobbyist and communications professional, engaging the Association's membership in advocacy through strategic communications tools.

A graduate of North Carolina State University with a BA in Political Science, Seth has been recognized with numerous fellowships, including NLC North Carolina, the Truman National Security Project, and the NC Institute of Political Leadership. He regularly presents on advocacy, lobbying, and communications topics and currently serves as a faculty member of the NC Institute of Political Leadership.

An Eagle Scout who continues his service with involvement in numerous organizations across the Raleigh area, Seth spends his free time with his wife and their daughter while continuing his quest to start his own barbecue sauce company.

Comments

I am a Library super-user and fan. I would love to give back to this cherished community institution through service on the Library Commission. I'm also a big parks and greenways fan and would be interested in serving on the Open Space and Parks Advisory Committee. In both of these service areas, I'm very interested in issues of accessibility and equity. Thank you for your consideration, and please let me know if you have any questions.
