Interests & Experiences

Why are you interested in serving on a Board or Commission?

I have lived in Wake County for almost 11 years and during that time I have been active in the community. I firmly believe that it is important to give back to the community where you live so that it can be a great community for everyone. I want to continue to do that in a meaningful way and the Boards and Commissions in Wake County offer a wonderful opportunity to support continue to support the community. I am particularly interested in the Library Commission as libraries have been an important part of my life since I was a child. I learned to read by using the library when I was a toddler. Living in the countryside of a small town, library books offered me a way to explore worlds unlike mine and "meet" people unlike any I had met before. They helped me to become grounded and learn that my perspective was not the only perspective that was important. They challenged me to grow and be willing to experience things that were different. I learned about people, culture, history, adventure, ethics, and so much more all from the comfort of our local public library. This continued into my school years where I was a volunteer in the school library. I spent hours there before and after school as my mother worked at the school meaning I would arrive early and stay late. The library was a fascinating place to me - a wealth of knowledge was at my fingertips and I could completely lose myself in endless adventures there. As I grew older, I realized that while I loved the books at the library, libraries are about much more than books. They are the center of a healthy community. They are places where everyone in a community is truly equal. They are places where businesses start, families find comfort for difficult situations, individuals get assistance applying for jobs, children make friends, students get help for school projects, neighbors come together - the possibilities are endless. For the past 11 years I have worked professionally with libraries as a part of a library company, EBSCO Information Services. During this time, I have visited thousands of libraries (meeting even more librarians and library staff), attended multiple professional library conferences each year, and have been a presenter at library conferences and library meetings. Because of this work, I get to see first-hand how libraries across the country are giving people opportunities they would not otherwise have. I have been lucky enough to get to see how the library is a place where lives are changed. The Wake County Libraries are transformative places. They are places where everyone is welcome and where everyone is treated equally. Libraries are one of the greatest endeavors of a truly democratic society and a free and open library is more American than apple pie. The work that happens in the libraries in Wake County make our cities and neighborhoods better. That work helps our area be regularly touted as one of the best places in the United States to live. The experience I have (and continue to get on a daily basis) would benefit the library commission as I get to see libraries in all different phases of growth and in a variety of communities. I get to learn from what others are doing well and where initiatives have failed (and why). I would be honored to get to share that experience with the Library Commission and in turn learn from the other members of the Commission.

Interests & Experiences

Why are you interested in serving on a Board or Commission?

I feel strongly that libraries are the cornerstone of a strong community. With diminishing public funds and technology, supporting libraries is more important than ever. As a resident of Wake county, I frequent use the services of several of our libraries. In light of this, I would like to serve on the library commission and work to support our libraries.

Work Experience

My work experience includes corporate communications and marketing, working with small and large non-profits, a national newspaper and award-winning advertising agencies.

Volunteer Experience

I currently volunteer as an ESL tutor for USCRI and am a Social Media Ambassador for the Food Bank of Central & Eastern N.C. Previously I served on the Rolesville Appearance Committee, was on the board of directors for the New Hampshire Writers' Project and The Acting Loft.
