

Tommy Scoggins
Senior Inspector
Building Level III
Community Services

Tommy obtained his Building Level III certification in September 1989 while employed by the City of Raleigh Inspections Department. Tommy joined the Wake County Inspections Department in November 1989. He was transferred from the Wake County Office Building to the Eastern Regional Center once construction there was completed.

Tommy became the point of contact for the Town of Knightdale. He performed plan reviews, issued permits, attended preconstruction conferences and performed inspections. While in Knightdale, Tommy helped with the handicap accessible project donated by the "Today Show," featuring NBC's "George to the Rescue" makeover show for Rachelle Chapman. Rachelle was the bride who was paralyzed in 2010 when she was pushed into a swimming pool by one of her bridesmaids.

Tommy also obtained his Plumbing Mechanical and Electrical Level I certification to help with the trade inspections when needed.

On July 1, Tommy will retire with 30 years of service. In retirement, he plans to spend his time playing golf and making furniture in his woodshop.

Please join me in congratulating Tommy on his retirement.
