IV. Accessory Dwelling Units (ADUs)

Tim Maloney, Planning Development and Inspections

Accessory Dwelling Units (ADUs) are secondary dwelling units located on the same property as a principal dwelling. Many localities promote ADUs as one tactic to increase affordable housing options. Staff will brief the committee on the County's current ADU regulations, and permit demand, and discuss San Diego County's approach to pre-approved ADU building plans. The committee will consider whether Wake County should explore a similar program. Commissioners will have an opportunity to ask questions and provide feedback.
