

Jonathan White
Permits, Developments + Inspections

Jonathan White began his career with Wake County's Inspections Department in October 1985, making electrical, plumbing and mechanical construction code compliance for buildings and structures in Southern Wake County. He then moved to the eastern, western and northern sections of Wake County respectively. During that time, he advanced from General Inspector to General Inspector II while acquiring certifications from the NC State Code Qualification Board for Levels I, II and III for electrical, plumbing and mechanical inspections.

Jonathan moved from field inspections to Plans Review in April 2007 and received additional certification for Building Level 1 Inspections. Plans reviewers are responsible for receiving building plans from owners, contractors, and building professionals and checking for code compliance in all the trades prior to the plans being stamped for use in the field.

Jonathan will retire from Wake County PDI Department on July 1, 2021, as a Senior Plans Reviewer with nearly 36 years of service. Jonathan is also a Licensed Electrical Contractor and will be focusing on those pursuits after retiring from Wake County. Other than that, he says, "I'll sit on the porch and play with the dog."

Thank you, Jonathan, for your 35+ years of dedicated service to the citizens of Wake County. Enjoy your retirement!
